About Hood River County Library District

Hood River County Library District is dedicated to promoting the enjoyment of reading and culture, responding to the community's need for information, and enriching quality of life for its patrons. The library serves approximately 24,000 people, who checked out over 126,000 items in 2015-16. It includes three branches: Cascade Locks, Hood River, and Parkdale. All three libraries are crucial sources of free public Internet access and electronic information, with over 10,000 Internet sessions logged in 2015-16 by residents and visitors alike on the library's computers. The Hood River branch is in a stunning Carnegie library that was expanded in 2003. Cascade Locks and Parkdale are located in the busy centers of their communities. The district enjoys a very supportive Friends group, Foundation, and volunteers.

Hood River County Library District is a member of the Sage Library System and the Libraries of Eastern Oregon. Hood River County is in the heart of Columbia Gorge and the Mount Hood recreational area, providing opportunity for many outdoor recreational activities including windsurfing, kiteboarding, hiking, cycling, skiing, and much more. The district has stable funding from a countywide special district.
