About Hood River County Library District

Hood River County Library District is dedicated to promoting the enjoyment of reading and culture, responding to the community's need for information, and enriching quality of life for its patrons.

The Library District serves approximately 24,000 people with good circulation rates and robust participation in events. In 2020-21, a pandemic year, patrons checked out over 106,000 items.

The District includes three branches: Cascade Locks, Hood River, and Parkdale as well as a mobile Lending Library in Odell serving children ages 0-13. Additionally, a Bookmobile is scheduled to be added to these services in spring of 2022.

The physical library buildings provide free wi-fi, computer access and use of other electronic devices to patrons and visitors alike. Additionally, the Hood River County Library District is a member of the Sage Library System and the Libraries of Eastern Oregon, consortium which provide their patrons access to nearly all materials cataloged within their systems.

The Hood River branch is in a stunning, historic Carnegie building (constructed in 1913 and expanded in 2003), and the Cascade Locks and Parkdale branches are located in the center of their respective communities. The district has stable funding from a countywide special district, and enjoys the additional financial support of a very active Friends of the Library group and Library Foundation, as well as many hours of support from a bevy of loyal volunteers.

Seated at the heart of the Columbia River Gorge, Hood River County provides myriad opportunities for outdoor recreational activities including windsurfing, kiteboarding, hiking, cycling, skiing, and more.
